

2nd Annual
FALL FOLIAGE FIESTA
OF RUG HOOKING

September 21-25, 2011

- Three 4-Day Classes & One 2-Day Class
- R&R (Rest & Rug Hooking) Retreat

Vermont College of Fine Arts
Montpelier, Vermont

GET HOOKED ON FALL!

The historic Vermont College of Fine Arts is a wonderful place to offer rug hooking classes during the height of Vermont's spectacular fall foliage season. Located on a scenic hilltop in the capital city of Montpelier, this classic New England college offers large, sunny classrooms; comfortable, clean dorm rooms; and a variety of delicious foods prepared by the renowned New England Culinary Institute.

THE CLASSES

Classes are held in College Hall (pictured). They are limited to 14 students to allow for individual attention and are filled on a first-come, first-served basis. Classrooms are open until 11 PM for evening hooking.

- Orientals with Jeanne Benjamin, MA
- Open Class with Sybil Osicka, OH
- Primitives & Wide Cuts with Anita White, KS
- Techniques of Finishing with Susan Feller, WV (2-day class)

R&R RETREAT...REST & RUG HOOKING

This option is available for those who prefer to relax and hook at their leisure with friends and new acquaintances. Stay in the dorm or treat yourself to a local B&B. Leave a little time to visit the shops and dine in Montpelier. There's lots to do, or very little—it's your choice!

HOOKING SUPPLIES

Wool and hooking supplies will be available for purchase on campus, as well as at Green Mountain Hooked Rugs, three miles from the VCFA campus.

Mariah Krauss

Fall Fiesta students view rugs in progress.

In celebration of the 30th year of Green Mountain Rug School, Stephanie has chosen to honor her mother, Anne Ashworth, by featuring one of the rugs that she designed and hooked, known as "That Damn Rug," shown above. This 5-foot wide x 23-foot long runner can be seen on the floor as you enter the rug shop. For more about this rug, visit 'Our Stories' on the website.

ABOUT THE DIRECTOR

Stephanie Ashworth-Krauss was only six when she learned to hook from her mother, Anne Ashworth, a nationally recognized rug hooker who co-founded Green Mountain Rug School in 1982. A fourth-generation rug hooker and custom-dyeing specialist, Stephanie owns Green Mountain Hooked Rugs in Montpelier, Vermont. She operates Green Mountain Rug School and Fall Fiesta with the help of her daughters, Lindsay and Mariah.
